

BANQUET FOR SOCIAL SEASON

Washington Transportation Association Prepares for Initial Event.

ORGANIZATION A NEW ONE

Passenger and Freight Officials of Railroad and Steamship Lines Are Members.

A banquet at the Raleigh Hotel November 16, will mark the social opening of the Washington Transportation Association, which has been recently organized in this city. An elaborate program and menu have been arranged for the supper, and big dining rooms of the hotel will be crowded with freight and passenger agents from the railroads and steamship companies.

The Washington Transportation Association was organized in the latter part of last May. Passenger and freight officials of the various railroads and steamship lines that enter the city, also officers of the local express companies, compose the club. It is purely a social organization. The officers are:

President, W. S. Bronson, Chesapeake and Ohio; vice president, H. M. Newbold, Pennsylvania; secretary, H. P.
Baldwin, Baltimore and Ohio; Treasurer, H. W. Callahan, Norfolk and Washington Steamship Company. The executive committee is: Col. L. S. Brown, Southern; F. L. Marshall, Jr., Baltimore and Ohio; J. W. Malcolm, Pennsylvania; A.
J. Poston, Southern; E. J. Lockwood, Norfolk and Western; and W. S. Knox, Knox Express Company.

SLAYER OF SMITH NOT YET CAUGHT; POLICE HOPEFUL

lots until he reached a Mr. Parker's yard, when he lost track of him. "I am blamed," said Policeman Garvey, "for not shooting at Johnson when he was running up King street, but there was a crowd of white citizens on the Hotel Jackson corner and if I had failed to hit Johnson I might have killed one of them."

Policeman Nicholson, on whom the assault was made early Saturday night, stated that he had seen several policemen in the neighborhood of the Hotel Jackson, but that he did not see the shooting of Smith and worked until an early hour Sunday morning hunting for Johnson. He was with several other policemen to the negro camps and searched for the murderer.

Commonwealth's Attorney Brent said that he had seen several policemen last Sunday afternoon, who were supposed to be searching for Johnson, leaning against a fence in upper King street for an hour.

It is common talk, declared Mr.
Brent, "that the escape of the murderer on Saturday night was due to lack of courage on the part of the Alexandria police."

Sends for Murderer's Picture.

Chief Goods said this morning that he had written to New York for a photo of Johnson, and expected to have it here today, when he would give a description of the murderer with his photograph on them, would be sent throughout the country.

Previous to being killed Charles T.
Smith had arrested two colored women charged with assaulting Policeman Nicholson and had brought them to the station house. He had returned to the old fair grounds and was assisting Policeman Garvey when he was killed.
It is thought that the offer of $500 reward by the city council will prove an incentive for the capture of Johnson, and it is hoped now that he will soon be brought to justice.

How Trouble Started.

The trouble, which resulted in the killing of Charles T. Smith started last Saturday night in a side show of a circus giving a performance on the old fair grounds. William Johnson and Frank Robinson, both colored, engaged in a fight over some women. Policeman Andrew Nicholson undertook to separate the men, when they showed fight. Robinson proved stubborn and resisted the policeman and the two clinched. The policeman pulling out his blackjack, raised it above his head, and was about to hit Robinson with it when someone in the crowd, said to have been a negro woman, grabbed it out of his hand and he was, at the same time, giving a description of the murderer with his
throughout the country.

Fired Pistols Into Crowd.

As the two ran up an alley near the fair grounds they fired their pistols at the crowd, which was chasing them.
Policemen were dispatched to the scene to hunt for the men. Policeman Ferguson stationed himself at the house in West street, at which Robinson is said to have lived, and Policeman Garvey watched the Hotel Jackson, where Johnson stayed. Policeman Garvey saw a man whom he thought to be Johnson leave the Hotel Jackson, and walking down King street, stop behind a building there, which is being used to pump water from a sewer trench.

Mr. Garvey, knowing that both Johnson and Robinson had pistols, and that they were citizens standing around to watch out for Johnson, as he was going to catch him, he began to run for them to catch him.

How Smith Was Shot.

Policeman Garvey, accompanied by Charles T. Smith, approached Johnson, who was standing behind the boiler, with his side toward the Hotel Jackson.
Mr. Garvey walked up to him, and, laying his hand on his shoulder, at the same time holding his pistol to his face, said: "Say, partner, do you know the hotel Jackson?" "No," replied Johnson. "I do know Johnson," said Garvey. "Come with me to the Hotel Jackson," said Mr. Garvey, "and we will see if you know him." Johnson rightly," said Johnson. He had turned, and was facing King street, when Smith, who had been standing behind Garvey came forward, and laying his hands on him, shook him against Mr.
Garvey, knocking the pistol from the policeman's hand. Johnson then seized Smith's body fell backward against Garvey, but despite this the policeman managed to hit the murderer with his blows across the head with his night stick before he broke away and ran up King street, firing his pistol back at Mr. Garvey. Pushing the body of Smith from him, Garvey gave chase and was joined by Policeman Gill and Harry Weeks.

Johnson ran up King street to Peyton street when he turned south and ran down Peyton street. Just before he reached Prince street a cab drove up and stopped half way across Peyton street. The negro took advantage of this, ran around the cab and over a fence which runs back of the Hotel Jackson. He was closely followed by the crowd, but managed to escape.

Did You Ever Know

How it feels to be perfectly well?
Perfectly well means a lot. Not an ache, all or protest of any kind from body or mind.

The Heaven of perfect poise when the life forces drive rich, strong red blood through the veins and fill one with an indefinable joy, when nature and all the world seems to be sending caresses to you.

Then the sky is beautiful whether it be gray or a deep restful eternity-reaching blue or covered with softly mounded, round bosomed clouds lazily floating about and the breeze is kind and sweet, whether it smooths your cheek with the soft touch of the woman who loves you or energetically fills your lungs with the strong tonic of life.

Trees nod, the fallen leaves frisk about in fairy grace, flowers smile and send their fragrance and every friend you meet seems a warm hearted brother reaching out for companionship. Perhaps an open fire beckons, beside which tells purrs out her soft song of peace. Harmony from every side greets the harmony within and there steals over one from head to foot the subtle, sensuous tinge of warm new blood, the perfect poise of a well-fed nervous system.

All this is absolute evidence that the possessor has been fed right and should stick to that kind of food and habits which have produced the result. The facts stand forth and the conclusions are certain. If

SECRETARY WILSON GOES HOME TO VOTE

But Will Make Several Speeches to Farmers Before Election Day.

Secretary Wilson, of the Agricultural Department, starts for Iowa tomorrow night, where he will cast his vote for the Republican ticket and visit among the "home folks." Before election day the Secretary will make a few speeches to the farmers.

"Where are you going to talk?" Secretary Wilson was asked after his talk with the President.

"Oh, in some little places out there that our readers never even heard of," replied the Farm Minister. "I like to get out and talk to the farmers. No one else cares to hear me or cares where I talk. I've been working about on this meat business for the last four months and I feel as though I'd like to go home for a little while. Of course I'd go home to vote anyway."

REMARKABLE PIANIST FEATURE OF CONCERT

Felix Garziglia Main Attraction of Second of Washington College of Music's Series.

The second of the Washington College of Music concerts will take place tomorrow afternoon in the Columbia Theater in this city, when the artist will be Felix Garziglia, who came to America last July from the Paris Conservatoire, to fill Mr. Lawrence's place on the faculty of the Washington College of Music. Mr. Garziglia is known as a pianist of rare ability and his playing, it is said, will be a revelation and will demonstrate the character of musicians that the Washington College of Music is bringing to this city.

Mr. Garziglia speaks fluently several languages and is thoroughly read. His repertory comprises all the great piano concertos, as well as the other important works in piano literature. He has arranged a most entertaining program.
Single tickets of admission can be secured from T. Arthur Smith and the concert will take place at the Columbia Theater at 4:30 p. m.

Mr. Wright long has promised a surprise for Washington audiences and he predicts that Mr. Garziglia's play-

A TEETOTALER'S ARGUMENT.

An ardent teetotaler in conversation with the late Sir Wilfrid Lawson, the famous English prohibitionist, once found fault with the practice of "christening" vessels with champagne before being launched. Sir Wilfrid did not altogether agree with him, and said a good temperance lesson could be learned from the practice. "How can that be?" asked his companion. "Well," replied the witty baronet, "after the first taste of wine the ship takes to water and sticks to it ever after."

EXECUTIONERS' BLOOD MONEY

Two Policemen, on Warpath, Send 143 Canines to Happy Hunting Grounds at $1 Per.

COATESVILLE, Pa., Oct. 25.—There was a dogs' day in Coatesville, and if there is a live pup in town now, it is either muzzled or under cover. Two negro policemen, one armed with a shotgun and the other with a revolver, went through the place shooting promiscuously at all unmuzzled curs, and before the sun went down two wagon-loads of dogs, 142 in all, were cremated in a big fire built on the outskirts of the town.

The slaughter was due to a recent edict issued by Burgess Spaekman, in which he notified the residents that all dogs found at large unmuzzled today would be shot, regardless of their surroundings.

The reason for the step was that a tramp dog, supposedly mad, ran through the town a short while ago and bit several well-kept canines. The burgess, who declared at his election that he would enforce all ordinances, said that the dog law must be obeyed.

All day the fusillade kept up.
Many of the dog owners here are very much incensed at the action taken by the burgess, and threaten to bring suits. They believe the dogs should be first caught and held, and if not identified, then killed.

GET FORGOTTEN AT COLUMBUS HOME

Was Retired in 1897 After Forty Years' Gallant
Service.

MaJ. Gen. James W. Forsyth, U. S.
A., retired, father of Capt. William D.
Forsyth, of the Fifth Cavalry, died last night at his home in Columbus, Ohio, of paralysis, according to advices received at the War Department today.

General Forsyth was retired at his own request, after forty years' service.
In May, 1897. He was seventy-two years of age and was born in Ohio, from which State he was appointed in 1851 to the Military Academy.

He was made a brigadier general in 1894, and in May, 1897, was breveted a major general for gallant and meritorious service at the battle of Chickamauga, and retired. He was also bre-veted brigadier general in the volunteer army for the same service.

General Forsyth was on the staff of General McClellan during the Peninsula and Maryland campaigns, and later on the staff of General Sheridan. Following the civil war, General Forsyth distinguished himself in the frontier service.

Among the members of the general's family, aside from his son, Captain Forsyth, is a daughter, Mrs. Bache, widow of Colonel Bache, of the Medical Corps.

TOURING CAR SKIDS, STRIKING LAMPPOST

The slippery asphalt this morning caused a big touring car, owned by E.
S. Newman, local manager for an additional machine company, with offices in the Bond Building, to skid at John Marshall place and C street northwest, the automobile crashing into the curb and bending a lamppost double. The rear of the machine was somewhat damaged.

The chauffeur, James Butler, colored, was coming up Sixth street, and, to avoid colliding with a delivery wagon coming down C street, was obliged to make a sharp turn. The car slid across the pavement, striking the lamppost with considerable force. Butler was not injured.

HE HAD MET JEREMIAH.

A traveler going to New Zealand was asked by a friend if he would inquire while there, as to the whereabouts of the friend's grandfather, Jeremiah Thompson.

"Certainly," said the traveler, and wherever he went he asked for news of the ancestor, but without avail.

One day he was introduced to a fine old Maori of advanced age. "Did you ever meet an Englishman named Jeremiah Thompson?" he asked.

A smile passed over the Maori's face.
"Meet him?" he repeated. "Why, I ate him!"—Ladies' Home Journal.
